

RENTAL FOR LIVE THEATRE AND PERFORMING ARTS AT COLUMBIA CENTER FOR THE ARTS (CCA)

HOOD RIVER, OREGON

Live theatre and performing arts are an integral part of programming at Columbia Center for the Arts. CCA offers three options for theatre companies and performing arts groups to engage with the Center: Rental, Paid Performance, and Non-Equity Performances.

OPTIONS FOR LIVE PERFORMING ARTS AT CCA

1. Rent the Theatre

With rentals, all marketing, ticket sales, set design, lights and sound, and play management are handled by the renter; CCA offer access to the space on designated dates and provides a house manager (and bartender if appropriate) for performances. Below you will find rates and details for space rental for live theatre performances/readings/rehearsals.

2. Paid Performances

CCA welcomes Requests for Proposal from theatre companies and collectives interested in a paid performance contract. In this case CCA agrees to pay a flat rate for the play production, and assumes responsibility for marketing, ticket sales, and venue costs. With paid performances, all ticket sale proceeds go to CCA.

3. CCA Presents: Non-equity Paid Performances

CCA welcomes Requests for Proposal from non-equity, all-volunteer directors and theatre groups for plays to be produced under the CCA Presents title at the Center. All costs for royalties and fees, costumes, sets, marketing, etc. for these non-equity, all-volunteer cast and crew plays are covered by CCA, with all proceeds going to CCA.
